Luke 2:8-15

In the business of the holiday season, the world invites us to pour our time, energy, and attention into anything but Jesus. The chaos can overwhelm us, and we run the risk of missing Jesus during the very season meant to celebrate him. The world offers cheap tricks and trinkets as poor substitutes for His joy, but He invites us to choose a better priority.

- Jesus' birth was among the lowly

- The shepherds believed and responded

- True joy comes from focusing on Jesus
